Everyday expressions say it like a native speaker

"Keep that secret in the family, please!"

Please don't tell this to anybody outside our family. (keep something in the family = only family members know it)

> It's Grandma Nermin's surprise party on Sunday. Keep that secret in the family, please!

"My father works all hours on his new job!"

He works very long hours, from early morning until late at night. (work all hours = work for a very long time every day)

> Dad works all hours on his new AI course, so we often have dinner without him.

“Please make yourself at home!”

A friendly thing you say to a guest: relax and feel comfortable here, like in your own home.

> “Welcome to our new flat, Elif! Please make yourself at home!” says Aunt Selin.

Reflexive pronouns

by + reflexive pronoun = alone, with no help: I do my homework by myself.

Subject	Reflexive pronoun	Example
I	myself	I'm designing my room myself.
you (one person)	yourself	Please make yourself at home!
he	himself	Mustafa makes his bed by himself.
she	herself	Elif is decorating her room by herself.
it	itself	The heating turns itself on at 6 a.m.
we	ourselves	We're packing all the boxes ourselves.
you (two or more)	yourselves	Help yourselves to cake, everyone!
they	themselves	The twins are cooking dinner by themselves tonight.

Jobs, workplaces and routines

Talk about job routines with the Present Simple: She checks her patients' teeth in her clinic.

Job	Workplace	A typical routine
an architect	an office, a construction site	designs buildings
an author	an office, at home	writes books and stories
a cook	a restaurant	prepares meals and desserts
a dentist	a clinic	checks patients' teeth
an engineer	a company, a factory	designs machines and systems
a journalist / a reporter	a news agency, a TV studio	writes and reports the news
a lawyer	an office, a court	helps people with the law
a manager	a hotel, a shop, an office	plans the work and runs everything
a pilot	a plane, an airport	flies planes
a professor	a university	teaches students

Grammar spotlight

the grammar you will see in the texts

Present Continuous for future arrangements (fixed plans with a time)	I'm visiting a construction site with Aunt Selin on Monday.
Present Simple for timetables and schedules	The restaurant opens at 11, and the factory tour starts at 10.
when / while for two actions at the same time or one after the other	Uncle Hakan cooks the meat while his assistant prepares the plates. Dad calls us when dinner is ready.
Which …? for asking about one thing from a group	Which floor is Aunt Selin's new flat on? – The fourth.
Reflexive pronouns (myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves); by + reflexive = alone, with no help	Mustafa is decorating his half of the room by himself.

BEFORE YOU READ What do your family members and relatives do? Where do they work?

> Elif Yıldız · Class 6-B Project: Family Jobs

Next week is our school holiday, and my family is going to Bursa. Aunt Selin and Uncle Hakan are moving to a new flat, and we're helping them. Mum has a few days off work, so she's helping Aunt Selin unpack. She says she's the "boss of boxes" this week! Our class project is about family jobs, so I'm visiting my relatives' workplaces. Here is my plan.

Monday: Aunt Selin is an architect. She designs houses and schools, and she visits construction sites when a new building starts. I'm going to a site with her. The meeting starts at 9:30, and I'm wearing a real helmet!

Tuesday: Uncle Hakan is a cook in a restaurant famous for İskender kebab. Fun fact: this kebab comes from Bursa! He cooks the meat while his assistant prepares the plates. I'm helping in the kitchen. The restaurant opens at 11, but the cooks start work at 8.

Wednesday: My cousin Ece is an engineer at a car factory. She works for a big company, and she wears a uniform at work. The factory tour starts at 10.

Thursday: Aunt Zehra is a dentist. She checks her patients' teeth in her clinic, and she's very strict about sweets. I'm having a check-up at 2 p.m. Wish me luck!

Friday: My cousin Berk wants to be a detective, so he's showing me his "secret office" under the stairs. And Dad? He is an AI trainer. He runs a website called Yapay Zeka Okulum (My AI School), and he gives AI lessons in different cities. This week, his office is Aunt Selin's new kitchen! Emre is taking photos for my presentation, and Mustafa is coming everywhere with his toy dinosaur.

Which job is the most interesting? I'm telling you after the holiday!

Elif's Notebook · Holiday Special from Bursa

Hi, everyone! I'm writing from Bursa! Aunt Selin and Uncle Hakan are moving to a new flat this week, and we're helping them. Right now, the flat is full of boxes, and Pamuk is very happy. She's sleeping in a different box every hour! Mum and Aunt Selin are unpacking the kitchen, and Mum keeps saying, "Pamuk, that box is for the plates, not for you!"

The new flat has got two floors. The kitchen and the living room are downstairs, and the bedrooms are upstairs. Sorry, I'm not writing the address here. Aunt Selin says, "Keep that secret in the family, please!" The best part? A flat roof with a little garden on it!

And here's the big surprise: Aunt Selin is giving me a small room for my visits! She's an architect, so she wants to design it for me. But I'm designing it myself! My plan: a white youth room set, a bookshelf for my comics, blue curtains with yellow stars and fairy lights above the bed. Tomorrow, Emre and I are painting one wall green (if he gets up before ten!). Two painters are doing the rest of the flat on Thursday.

And Mustafa? He says the room is half his, so he's decorating "his half" by himself: dinosaur stickers on the wall and a "NO SISTERS!" sign. Very sweet, Mustafa.

The new furniture arrives at 2 p.m. on Wednesday. Aunt Selin is giving me my own key to the flat! Dad can't help much in the mornings because he works all hours on his new AI course, so Mum, Emre, Mustafa and I are unpacking everything ourselves.

Which room is your favourite in your home? Tell me in the comments!

Bye for now! – Elif

Unusual Jobs: Would You Like to Do Them?

Linked to: Student's Book p. 80 – Ready to Explore: Interesting jobs and buildings

BEFORE YOU READ Do you know any unusual jobs? Which job sounds the most fun to you?

> Turunç Lower Secondary School Magazine · Jobs Special
> by Elif Yıldız, 6-B

My week of jobs in Bursa was amazing: an architect, a cook, an engineer and a dentist! But some people have really unusual jobs. Here are four of them. Which one is your dream job?

Video game tester: My dad teaches AI, and he says testing is very important for every computer program. Testers play new games before they are in the shops. Sounds easy? Not really! Their main task is to find mistakes, called "bugs". They play the same level again and again. When they find a bug, they report it to the game designers, and the designers fix it.

Ice-cream taster: Some ice-cream companies employ tasters to try new flavours. A taster checks the taste, the colour and how creamy the ice cream is. But tasters don't eat bowls of ice cream all day! They usually taste only a small spoonful of each flavour. (Mum says this is her dream job!)

LEGO master builder: Master builders design and build amazing models with LEGO bricks: cities, animals and even famous buildings. You can see their work at LEGOLAND parks. Big models take a long time, so builders usually work in teams.

Panda keeper: Panda keepers look after giant pandas in zoos and in special panda centres in China. Every day, they give the pandas fresh bamboo and clean their homes. Pandas eat for many hours a day, so this is a busy job! While the pandas are eating, the keepers check that they are healthy. Some keepers even wear panda costumes when they work with young pandas that are going back to the wild.

Offices, factories, theme parks, panda centres… there are interesting workplaces everywhere! In the next issue, I'm writing about unusual homes around the world. Don't miss it!

Let's check!

My score: _____ / 15

1 True or False? Write T (True) or F (False). Correct the false sentences.

a Video game testers play each level only once. T F

The Case of the Missing Cake

Linked to: Student's Book p. 81 – strip story: visiting Nehir's room upstairs (and Emma, who wants to be a detective, p. 78)

BEFORE YOU READ Do you like mystery stories? How does a detective find answers?

It's the last Saturday in Bursa. The neighbours are coming to Aunt Selin's new flat for a welcome tea at five.

Aunt Selin I'm putting my chocolate cake in the refrigerator. Don't touch it! Sultan and I are going to the shop.

Aunt Selin and Mum take their keys and leave. Elif is putting up fairy lights on the roof garden when her cousin Berk runs up.

Berk Elif! Come downstairs, quick! The cake is gone!

A small chair is next to the refrigerator. Emre is on the sofa, wearing headphones.

Elif Emre! There's chocolate on your face!

Emre That's from my chocolate bar! Please keep that secret in the family. Aunt Zehra is a dentist!

Elif OK, Berk, let's be detectives. Which people are in the flat right now?

Berk You, me, Emre, Mustafa and Pamuk. Where are Aunt Sultan and Uncle Murat?

Elif Mum's at the shop, and Dad's at a café. He works all hours on his new project!

Emre Then it's Pamuk!

Elif No way. Pamuk can't open a refrigerator, and she's asleep in a box.

Berk Look at this small chair. The thief is short!

Elif I'm checking the kitchen while you're looking at the stairs.

Berk Chocolate crumbs on the stair carpet! They're going upstairs… to your room!

Mustafa is on "his half" of Elif's room. The cake is next to him, under a blanket. One tiny piece is missing.

Elif Mustafa! What are you doing?

Mustafa I'm protecting the cake from Emre! He says he can eat a whole cake by himself. And every cake needs a taster!

Everybody laughs when Mum and Aunt Selin come back with the neighbours.

Aunt Selin Welcome! Please make yourselves at home! Mustafa, bring that cake here, please.

Mum And here's a towel for your face, my little taster!

Elif Case closed! Maybe my dream job is detective, not author!

Berk Hey! That's MY dream job!
