A Week at Turunç

Linked to: Student's Book p. 37 – a school post about favourite school routines (Engin)

BEFORE YOU READ What is your favourite day of the school week? Why?

> Elif's Notebook · Post #7
> Category: School life

Hi, everyone! Today's post is about my week at Turunç Lower Secondary School in Antalya. Get a snack and read on!

My alarm rings at 6:45, but Pamuk always wakes me up first. She sits on my pillow and says "Meow!" until I get up. Mum and Dad share the breakfast jobs: Mum makes the tea, and Dad makes his famous omelette. Dad is an AI trainer. This week he is at home, so he's still in his slippers! My big brother Emre is always the last at the table. He's sixteen, but in the mornings he's a sleepy bear. Mum leaves for work at 7:30. At the door, she always says, "Emre, wake up! Elif, take your lunch!" After breakfast, I pack my bag. My little brother Mustafa sometimes hides a toy dinosaur in it. Very funny, Mustafa!

Maya and I usually walk to school together. When the bell rings at 8:20, we line up in the schoolyard. On Monday mornings, there is a flag ceremony and we sing the national anthem. Our headmaster, Mr Kaya, stands at the gate and greets every student by name.

My favourite lesson is English, of course! Mrs Demir often gives us fun tasks. She checks our homework regularly, so I never forget it. Kerem sometimes forgets his. His excuse? "My robot eats it!"

Lunch is at 12:15 in the canteen. We clean our table before we leave. That's a school rule.

Wednesday is the best day of the week. After lessons, I go to the art club. We are all keen on painting, and this term we are making a giant picture of Kaleiçi for the conference hall. On Fridays, Maya plays football for the school team. I always watch her and shout, "Go, Maya!"

How often do you do something fun at school? Tell me in the comments. See you soon!

Love, Elif

Meet Our Class Helpers

Linked to: Student's Book p. 36 – three short jigsaw texts about school life (Kyle, Elif, Fatih)

BEFORE YOU READ Do you have a job or a responsibility in your class? What is it?

> Turunç Lower Secondary School · Website · Class News
> by Elif Yıldız, 6-B

Hi, I'm Elif from 6-B. Every term, each student in our class takes a responsibility. We all do our jobs willingly, and our classroom is a happy place. Let me introduce three of this term's helpers – and one of them is me!

A – Maya, our Line Leader. When the bell rings, Maya leads us to our classroom. We walk in a line, and we never run on the stairs. Maya also helps our PE teacher, Mr Uçar. Before the lesson, she carries the balls to the sports field, and after the lesson, she brings them back. When classmates shout in the corridor, she just smiles at them and says, "Shh!" It always works. Her top tip: "Follow the rules and be a team player!"

B – Kerem, our Lab Helper. Kerem calls himself "a scientist, an inventor and the funniest boy in 6-B". Every Tuesday, we have science in the lab. He gets there early and arranges the test tubes on the tables. Ms Şahin, our science teacher, gives us instructions, and Kerem reads them carefully. He doesn't want a volcano on his desk! At the end of the lesson, he turns off the lights. His top tip: "Never eat in the lab – not even one biscuit!"

C – Me, the Library Volunteer. There is a small library on the second floor of our school. I go there regularly, every Thursday at lunchtime. Students borrow books, and I write their names in the library notebook. When a book is old, I fix it with tape, so my friends call me “the Book Doctor”. Some students forget to return their books, so I draw a funny cat on a note and send it to them. My top tip: Ask me for a good book. I always know one!

School Days Around the World

Linked to: Student's Book p. 38 – Ready to Explore: different types of schools

BEFORE YOU READ What time does your school start? Do you wear a school uniform?

> Turunç School Magazine · Culture Corner
> by Elif Yıldız, 6-B

Is a school day the same everywhere in the world? My best friend Maya is from England, and her stories about her old school always make me curious. So this month, I'm writing about school days in four countries.

Japan – Cleaning time. In Japan, the school year starts in April. When students enter the school building, they take off their outdoor shoes and put on indoor shoes. In most schools, there is a cleaning time every day. Students clean their classrooms and corridors themselves. At lunchtime, some students serve the food to their classmates in the classroom. So students learn to care for their school.

England – "Sir" and "Miss". In England, most students wear a school uniform. Many schools have an assembly in the morning. All the students meet in the school hall, and a teacher gives a short speech or tells a story. English students usually call their teachers "Sir" or "Miss". Maya says, "In Manchester, I always say 'Miss' to my teacher. Here in Antalya, I say 'Öğretmenim'!"

Australia – A school on the screen. Some children in Australia live on big farms, very far from any town. How do they go to school? They stay at home! They are students at the School of the Air. They have their lessons on the internet, and they see their teacher and classmates on a screen. The teacher is often hundreds of kilometres away! The name comes from the old radio lessons.

Türkiye – Flag ceremonies. In Türkiye, there is a flag ceremony in the schoolyard every Monday morning and every Friday afternoon. Students line up, look at the flag and sing the national anthem, the İstiklal Marşı. On national days, like Republic Day on 29 October, schools celebrate with poems, songs and sometimes a parade.

Which school routine do you like best?
